

TVH CONSULTING PRESENTS ADAX 2012

Paris, 31 January 2012 - TVH Consulting, an independent company specialised in consulting, implementation, integration and support of ERP solutions, announces the new version of Advanced Distribution for Microsoft Dynamics AX: ADAX 2012. The ERP solution dedicated to multi-channel distribution has acquired new functionalities, to optimally meet the business requirements of the companies that use it.

With its Microsoft Dynamics AX 2012 solution, Microsoft is offering a new architecture specially designed for the development of vertical software, maintenance and scalability. Microsoft Dynamics AX 2012 has complete administration functions for managing finance, human resources and indirect supplies. It offers independent software vendors a comprehensive platform on which to develop complete vertical solutions.

Using the new version of Microsoft Dynamics AX, TVH Consulting has enhanced its Advanced Distribution for Microsoft Dynamics AX solution (ADAX) to improve still further the way that it meets its customers' requirements. ADAX 2012 includes vertical applications dedicated to different sectors:

- For companies in distance selling and eCommerce in the B2C and/or B2B contexts, whether the orders originate online, by telephone, by e-mail, in the shop, via paper or a combination of all these cases, ADAX 2012 can integrate all of these channels into the same system both at the marketing level and for the automatic processing of orders, from supply, by direct delivery or otherwise, up to settlement.
- For suppliers to volume retailing, ADAX 2012 can identify the complex purchasing organisations of their customers and their supply infrastructure, complex and varied commercial conditions, special offers or rebate conditions.

ADAX 2012 also includes horizontal functionalities that complement the functionalities of AX 2012 and which are usable whatever the sector of activity:

- Transport Management simplifies, optimises and reduces the cost of all operational aspects of managing an external logistics network, for supply or shipment, whether you have your own fleet or whether you make use of the services of carriers.
- The new advanced stock management module, which has been completely rewritten for this version and applies industry best practices, can optimise internal logistical processes with functionalities available that have never before been seen in an ERP package. It optimises the use of available space, uses advanced algorithms for storage and preparation, can validate transactions by radio-frequency and/or vocally and it transforms warehouse logistics into an essential strategic element in the supply chain.

- The new forecasting module considers all available marketing information in an integrated manner, such as promotional campaigns, prices and corresponding objectives, and the orders and shipments history, taking into account the market, product and time aspects, as well as the place of consumption, in order to calculate accurate sales forecasts for taking maximum advantage of the supply planning system provided by AX 2012.

ADAX 2012 has been available since December 2011.

About TVH Consulting:

Founded in 2003, TVH Consulting is an independent company specialised in consulting, implementation, integration and support of Information Systems through major international ERP software solutions. With 2010 revenue of €13 million, the company now has more than 100 staff including seasoned consultants and project managers who have acquired sound experience and expertise in business, functional and technological aspects.

With its own research and development centre in Maisons-Laffitte, TVH Consulting is developing clearly-targeted vertical approaches in the fields of specialised retailing, fashion, food processing, project management, suppliers for volume retailing, and multi-channel retailing.

TVH Consulting works mainly in Europe but also on other continents (United States, Canada, South Africa, etc.), thanks to a global network of international partners. It keeps full control of the management of its projects and of support to all its installations and gives an irrevocable commitment to its results.

For more information: www.tvhconsulting.com – www.adax-erp.com

Press relationships:

TVH Consulting

Nathalie Voyer

Tel: + 33 1 34 93 17 27

Email: nathalie.voyer@tvhconsulting.com